4 Vets Killed, 33 Hurt In Flaming Devens Bus

AYER, Sept. 13—In one of the most ironic tragedies to strike at American soldiery returning from the war, four overseas veterans were burned to death and 33 others were injured, one critically, in a bus accident here at 4:20 a. m.—only a few minutes before they would have reached Ft. Devens and safety. All had survived the fierce fighting in France and Belgium. All but two were New Englanders. All, after long, weary months of slogging through the embattled mire of Europe and enduring intense hardship, were riding the last mile to civilian life again.

Two of those who perished in flames were Charles W. Canino, Saratoga st., East Boston, and Vincent J. Battle, Elmwood ave., Providence. The two others who died had dog tags so old and worn their identity was not immediately ascertainable.

On the danger list at Lovell General Hospital in Ft. Devens, was John J. Allison, Washington st., Braintree. All victims are members of the 86th Depot Repair Unit.

The bus in which they were riding, first in a convoy, crashed into a telegraph pole, uprooted a tree and turned upside down, in West Main st., not far from the entrance to Devens.

Gasoline from a tank near the driver's seat poured down on the struggling mass of soldiers. There was a flash of flame, then an explosion. Men who had the strength and the opportunity smashed windows and crawled through jagged panes.

But for the four men whose burned bodies were to be taken from the charred wreckage later there was no chance. The explosion enveloped them in flames before they could make a move.

Two Ayer policemen, Patrolmen Ernest Downing and John Dwyer, reached the scene before the flames broke out. Downing related:

"Men were already crawling out, some so badly hurt they could not stand. I could smell

R.I. Man Admits Killing Wife

PROVIDENCE, Sept. 13—Stolid Gordon Newcomb, 42-year-old oil dealer, broke down under relentless police questioning today and allegedly confessed he had strangled his wife, Mary Ann, 40, last July 28 and buried her in a crude grave in his Cranston garage. Chief Inspector Thomas F. Rattigan announced the confession several hours after Newcomb, trapped by his 13-year-old daughter's suspicions, accompanied officers to the garage and directed them where to dig for the blanket-wrapped body.

The gangling, sharp-featured oil dealer had insisted at that time his wife had died of injuries suffered in an accidental fall from his oil truck and that, in panic, he had buried her in the garage.

He had been picked up for questioning between 4 and 4:30 p. m. yesterday after his daughter, Kathleen, 13, had visited police headquarters and told Rattigan of her fears that her mother had met with foul play.

For hours, his chin cupped in his hands and his brawny arms resting on a table, Newcomb had insisted in terse, clipped sentences that his wife had left him in anger on the night of July 28 and that he had not seen nor heard from her since. Nor did he care, he added.

PROVIDENCE, Sept. 13—A warrant charging Gordon Newcomb with murder of his wife was obtained today by Insp. Thomas F. Rattigan. Newcomb will be arraigned tomorrow.

At midnight, as officers prepared to lock him up for the night, Newcomb changed his story and said his wife had died in an accidental fall from a truck in Olneyville.

Then, handcuffed to a detective, he was taken to the garage on Appleton st., an unfinished road in Cranston, near his summer cottage in a sparsely settled section. Under the eerie glare of police floodlights, the grisly task of exhumation began with Newcomb, unemotional, directing the digging.

But, it was not until late this morning, when officers took him over the route he claimed to have traveled on that July night, that the husband finally cracked and poured out the details of what had happened.

"She was always arguing," Rattigan quoted him as saying. "She had been arguing with me for 15 years.

"I was leaving the house that Saturday night and I asked Kathleen to take a ride with me in the truck. My wife said 'No,' that she wouldn't let Kathleen go and that she would go herself.

"She got into the cab and we went visiting the Mariettes in Cranston. We argued all the way out there and nearly all night while we were there. We had some drinks there. "We left shortly before midnight and started home. She was still arguing and finally she spit in my face. I grabbed her by the throat. I don't know how long I held her but she was unconscious.

"I was an orderly once in a hospital and when I took my hands off her throat I knew she was dead. I understand pulses and things like that and I know the difference between life and death."

"I drove back to the summer shack in Cranston and took her body out of the cab and brought it into the shack and left it there all night. I drove the truck home

Air Networks Resume, But Strike Still On

NEW YORK, Sept. 13 (AP)—The strike of about 500 union radio technicians in 350 stations of the National and American Broadcasting companies continued today with both networks on the air, their controls manned by supervisory personnel not connected with the union.

A. T. Powley, president of the National Ass'n of Broadcasting Engineers and Technicians, an independent union, said the men would remain away from their jobs until contract negotiations were resumed.

NBC said it was willing to resume negotiations "the minute the men return to work, and otherwise are ready to submit to arbitration."

Powley today telegraphed John MacDonald, vice president of the National Broadcasting Co., and Joseph McDonald of ABC's legal department "the union is perfectly willing to sit in continuous session and bargain on wages and conditions until a new contract is negotiated, and they will immediately return to work when the companies show good faith in bargaining and make an agreement."

He said the union had been advised by counsel the companies' action constituted a "lockout."

NBC said the union staged the "unauthorized and wildcat strike to secure completely unjustified wage demands."

Powley said the men receive from $226 to $381 monthly for a five-day week, but that they are

U. S. Hooked By Red Mark

Special to the Boston Evening American

NEW YORK, Sept. 13—The new Army ruling forbidding American soldiers in Germany from swapping Soviet-issued occupation marks for U. S. dollars is a palliative and not a cure, former Undersecretary of the Treasury John W. Hanes warned today.

"Such a move is comparable to attempting to bail out a lake with a fork," Mr. Hanes said. "It does not halt the Russians from inflating the German mark to their hearts' content nor does it stem the flood-tide of marks now rolling from Soviet printing presses and filling Germany with paper which America is pledged to redeem."

It was Mr. Hanes who, when he returned from Europe last week with Richard E. Berlin, president of the Hearst Corp., exposed the fact that the Americans had turned over to the Russians the plates from which the occupation marks are being printed.

At the time he warned that U. S. citizens stand to be bled of unestimated billions because of the "stupidity" in surrendering the plates to the Reds, who have flatly refused to exchange the marks for their own currency, while America trades for them at the rate of 10 to $1.

As a result of Mr. Hanes' disclosures, the U. S. Group Council's finance division in Berlin quickly issued the order prohibiting American soldiers from exchanging the Soviet-printed marks for American dollars.

"The American taxpayer has been getting hooked," said Col. Bernard Bernstein, division chief, in announcing the new regulation. "I'll say he is getting hooked," commented Mr. Hanes. "And we won't realize how much he really is hooked until the German economy is flattened under the steamroller of an inflation inspired by the Russians."

"I'm still asking—how did the Russians get the plates to print the marks, and why? Why wasn't the amount of currency Russia can float controlled?"

One of the primary interests of American occupation forces in Germany, Mr. Hanes pointed out, is the stabilization of the economy there.

"But after the German currency has been ruinously inflated, the British and the United States will have to put up to gain stabilization, and from the talks now going on in Washington we, and we alone, will be left holding the bag," he declared.

Regarded as one of the country's outstanding financial experts, Mr. Hanes continued his following statement seriously before he uttered it:

"My feeling is that we can stay in Germany and do a good job. We should stay there and do a good job. But if we are going to stay and end in a debacle, I think we should get out."

There is no one today who can estimate the billions of marks which have been floated in the Reich, Mr. Hanes said. This stems from the evil, he added, of two parties printing money with neither one knowing what the other is printing.

Mr. Hanes recalled the German inflationary era after World War I when a German had to have a "basketful" of marks to buy one egg. Now Germany appears to be headed in the same direction, only this time the U. S. STANDS TO FOOT THE BILL and all because we turned our money-making machinery over to a country which REFUSES TO RECOGNIZE THE CURRENCY IT TURNS OUT.

Full Scale Hurricane Nears Miami

MIAMI, Fla., Sept. 13 (AP)—A full scale hurricane carrying winds estimated at 135 miles per hour was sweeping toward the Bahamas today, approximately 850 miles southeast of Miami. Velocity of the storm appeared to be increasing rapidly, rising more than 40 miles per hour in a few hours. The weather bureau said: "This is a very severe hurricane."

Two hours earlier, Ernest Carson, chief of the Miami weather bureau, had characterized the disturbance as "a dangerous storm."

The Boston weather bureau said today it was too early to tell if a hurricane off the Bahamas would eventually reach New England.

Observers said the storm was about 80 miles northeast of St. Thomas and moving westward. It was expected to pass out 70 miles north of the Puerto Rican coast, officials said.

Winds of 75 miles an hour were reported in the storm center, with 50-mile gales on its edge.

Vessels have been warned, and relief organizations on islands near the hurricane area alerted.

Bonus Blanks Sent To Dead Vets' Kin

Next of kin of more than 10,000 dead Massachusetts servicemen have been sent application blanks for the State bonus, State Treasurer John E. Hurley said today.

BABY BURNS TO DEATH

Joan Claremont, two-year-old daughter of a Marine serving overseas, was burned to death early today when fire swept her home in Washington ave., Revere.

KANDY, Ceylon (delayed) (AP)—The end of the war means approximately 190,000 members of the American armed forces in the India-Burma Theater and about 65,000 more in China will be going home within a few months.

Transport has been promised as soon as shipping space is available. Some men can hope to be home by Thanksgiving and others by Christmas.

Hub to Paris in 14 Hours In New TWA Transports

Boston and Paris will be only 14 hours and 15 minutes apart when TWA inaugurates its newly certified over-ocean routes with Constellation Equipment, now being used by the Army, the line disclosed today.

Kenneth S. Fletcher of TWA's Boston office told the New England council's aviation committee at the organization's quarterly meeting Constellation schedules would link Ireland and Boston in 11 hours and 20 minutes; Rome, 18 hours and 30 minutes; Cairo, 27 hours and 25 minutes; and Ceylon, India, in 45 hours and 5 minutes elapsed flight time.

Boston would be one of TWA's most important terminal cities

Truck Capsizes, Pins Helper

Plunging backward 250 feet down a steep grade in Sunset st., Roxbury, a five-ton truck loaded with coal smashed into a dwelling and overturned, pinning Thomas Burke, 49, of Rulland st., truck helper, beneath.

Police, firemen and volunteers extricated the injured man. He was taken to Peter Bent Brigham Hospital and held for treatment of possible fractures of the spine and right hip, concussion and internal injuries.

William P. Dawson, 40, of South Huntington ave., Roxbury, driver, said the brakes failed.

when the new service begins. Fletcher added. He said that T. B. Wilson, chairman of TWA, and a group of company officials were in Europe laying the groundwork.

Cupid Returns, Court Cases Off

Let gallantry forever reign. Walter F. O'Dell of Alexander st., Dorchester, a bartender, today withdrew his suit to recover a $1050 platinum and diamond engagement ring from auburn-haired Mrs. Ida Anderson, hat check girl, who allegedly jilted him.

Whereupon Mrs. Anderson withdrew her assault and battery case against O'Dell, who she charged had manhandled her black and blue.

In municipal court, O'Dell sat side by side with Mrs. Anderson while she withdrew her charge. She had instituted it after O'Dell allegedly had encountered her Sunday night and tussled with her to such an extent she lost the ring.

They left together, leaving the legalists to wonder.

Medford Murder Suspect Arraigned

Paul Rubera, 72, Cornell st., Medford, charged with the baseball bat murder of his daughter-in-law, pleaded not guilty today before Judge Pinanski in Middlesex Superior court.

On the advice of District Atty. Thompson, with the agreement of Rubera's counsel, M. Edward Viola, the defendant was ordered to Bridgewater State Hospital for a 35-day period of observation.

Paper Storm In N. Y. for Wainwright

NEW YORK, Sept. 13 (AP)—The greatest paper blizzard in the history of New York's famed financial district showered down on smiling, happy Gen. Jonathan M. Wainwright today as the city gave a roaring welcome to the hero of Corregidor.

At least 3,000,000 persons—by police estimate—cheered and acclaimed the tall, 62-year-old four-star general on a triumphal motor ride from La Guardia field, where he was greeted with a 17-gun salute, to City Hall where he modestly accepted honorary citizenship of New York.

Thousands greeted him at the airport and along the Franklin D. Roosevelt dr. on the East river, but it was a wild, heart-warming demonstration in the hero's mile-long canyon of Lower Broadway that provided the climax.

Gay streamers, ticker tape and torn newspapers and telephone books showered down in such volume that at times the general's automobile—at the head of a 20-car motorcade—could barely be seen by the vast crowds turned out to pay tribute to the man who made his gallant and historic stand at Corregidor.

Gen. Wainwright, with Mayor LaGuardia riding beside him in an open touring car first used in the glamor days of the World's Fair, continually waved and smiled to the packed sidewalk and to thousands leaning from windows of towering buildings.

At City Hall, where he spoke briefly, his thoughts were on the men who withstood with him the siege of Corregidor and the 39 long months he endured in Jap prison camps.

He said of his soldiers: "Their sacrifices will have been in vain if we ever again allow this nation to grow indifferent to danger."

Then he added: "Thank you for your superb welcome. The events of this day have moved me deeply. You have the profound thanks of us all."

Waltham Crash Kills Marine

A Marine private was killed and two other servicemen and a woman were injured today when their automobile crashed into the rear of a trailer truck on Main st., Waltham.

The dead man was identified by police as PFC William E. Mullen, 23, of Auburn st., Auburn.

Those injured, Edward Sullivan, 21, of Garland rd., Newton, a soldier stationed at Camp Edwards, Coast Guard Francis P. Quirk, 21, and Mrs. Diana Carlo, 28, both of Waltham, were taken to Waltham Hospital.

Mullen was a veteran of 23 months in the Pacific.

Nazi Mines Still Kill 2000 Month

PARIS, Sept. 13 (AP)—Accidents in German-planted minefields are taking a toll of 2000 lives every month in France, the war ministry announced today. It estimated that 100,000,000 more buried weapons were to be removed.

No Possum Play

CLEVELAND, Sept. 13 (AP)—Suburban Lakewood had a blessed event in a big way today.

Patrolmen Thomas J. Galvin and Paul L. Lange, in response to hurried calls, parked their patrol car beside a curb just as an opossum, on the sidewalk, gave birth to the last of 15 offspring. The mother died a few minutes later.

SET WEDDING DATE—Shirley Temple, Hollywood film star, and her fiance, Sgt. John Agar, AAF., discuss plans for their marriage, scheduled for next Wednesday in the film capital. Shirley's brother, Jack, and his wife will stand up for the couple.

Nab R. I. Bank Teller in N. Y. With $13,500

NEW YORK, Sept. 13 (AP)—A man who identified himself as Lawrence S. Balmforth, 28, Woonsocket, R. I., a teller in the Colony Cooperative Bank of Woonsocket, was arrested today near the liner Queen Mary's pier and booked on a charge of being a fugitive from Rhode Island.

Police said he had a canvas bag containing $13,500, which he told them belonged to the bank.

Patrolman Thomas McLaughlin said he saw Balmforth chatting with members of the crew of the Queen Mary, and thinking the man might try to stow away on the liner asked what he had in the bag.

"Tools," McLaughlin said, Balmforth replied.

At McLaughlin's demand, the man opened the bag and inside were packages of new bills. McLaughlin said Balmforth told him he had made a killing yesterday at the Narragansett race track.

McLaughlin took the man to the West 54th st. station, where police said he admitted his identity and told them the money belonged to the bank. He said he went to Boston last night and took a plane to New York. He denied he intended to sail on the liner, and said he merely was interested in seeing the ship.

Police notified Woonsocket police, who said they had no information regarding the disappearance of any money from the bank.

Woonsocket Police Have Larceny Warrant

WOONSOCKET, Sept. 13 (AP)—Police who said they had a warrant charging Lawrence Balmforth, 28, with larceny, started for New York today to bring back a man who identified himself as Balmforth to New York police and said he was a teller in a Woonsocket bank.

Police obtained the warrant after officials of the Woonsocket branch of the Old Colony Co-operative Bank of Providence advised them a shortage had been disclosed.

A checkup was made by bank officials today when New York police sent word they were holding a man booked under the name of Balmforth as a fugitive after he had been found carrying a bag containing $13,500.

Bank officials said their first computations indicate about $16,000 missing.

Dependency Branch To Close Saturdays

The Boston regional office of the Field Investigations Branch of the Office of Dependency Benefits will be closed on Saturdays beginning Sept. 15, it was announced today.

2d Fishing Boat Tieup Is Averted

A second tieup of Boston's fishing industry within three weeks was averted today when representatives of the fishermen and boat owners gave the Regional War Labor Board assurance the trawler Medford would sail this afternoon.

A division of the labor board said it would not attempt to fix responsibility for the Medford's failure to sail yesterday.

The tieup involved a strike called by the Atlantic Fishermen's Union, AFL, against the Medford, over the issue of standby pay for the crew, and a retaliatory lockout enforced by the Federated Fishing Boats of New England & New York, Inc.

While the Medford is set to sail later this afternoon, some crewmen said they might refuse to go at the last moment. If it does sail, the 18 vessels of the fleet of 35 which have been tied up will sail for the Banks immediately after the Medford. Seventeen boats are waiting to be iced and repaired.

Churchill, Baruch on Gestapo 1940 List

BERLIN, Sept. 13 (AP)—Heinrich Himmler's Gestapo prepared for the invasion of England in 1940 by compiling a list of more than 2300 persons ranging from Winston Churchill, Bernard M. Baruch and Paul Robeson for automatic arrest, secret Nazi papers showed today.

DIED IN FIRE—Found in her blazing crib by her mother, 2-year-old Joan Claremont, Washington ave., Revere, daughter of a marine serving overseas, died before the flames could be extinguished.

Bay State Hero Unaware He Won Medal of Honor

By BERT BROCKBANK

One of Massachusetts' outstanding heroes of the war was awakened at the home of his parents in South Lee today and informed he has been awarded the Congressional Medal of Honor. He is Capt. James M. Burt, 28, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Fred Burt, recently returned from Berlin and spending a 30-day furlough with his parents before reporting back to Ft. Knox, Ky., Oct. 3.

With him is his young wife, the former Frances Harmon of Benevolence, Ga., whom he wed in March, 1942, before proceeding overseas.

Informed by the Boston Evening American over the long-distance phone of the official announcement in Washington that he had been awarded the highest military honor in the gift of his country, the modest young officer was almost overcome by surprise.

"I had heard indirectly before I came home that there was something coming to me," he said, "but I had no idea that it would be the Congressional Medal of Honor. I hardly know what to say."

Capt. Burt, incidentally, already holds the Purple Heart with two clusters, showing that he was wounded in action three times, and wears the Bronze Star.

He was a reserve officer before the war, having been a member of the ROTC at Norwich University where he was co-captain of the football team.

Born at Hinsdale, he received his education in Lee, graduating from the Lee High School. Later he entered Norwich University, and following his graduation returned to South Lee to accept a position as chemist with the Hurlbut Paper Co.

He entered the Army in February, 1941, and was stationed at Ft. Benning, Ga., before proceeding overseas in October, 1942.

An Associated Press dispatch revealed that his company was the 1st and 30th Divisions joined forces to seal in the German garrison at Aachen.

Through 10 days of furious combat beginning last Oct. 13, he rode his tanks through the lines to direct American artillery fire, helped lead infantry units in the sector and twice had tanks shot from under him.

W. Roxbury Vet Office Moved

Separation of the regional office of the Veterans' Administration from the West Roxbury facility was announced today by Brig. Gen. William J. Blake, regional supervisor.

Blake said the office will be established temporarily in the federal building and later moved to larger quarters at 17 Court st.

Col. Haughton W. Baxley was named manager of the West Roxbury facility and Dr. Samuel Tarkoff was promoted to clinical director.

Blake said the regional office will retain supervision of branches at Salem, Lawrence, Lowell, Worcester, Fitchburg, North Adams, Brockton and Springfield. Other branches were planned for Lynn, Haverhill and Greenfield.

Maj. Stephen J. Dalton will be chief medical officer at the regional office.

Lift Need for Filing Coal Requirements

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13 (AP)—Household coal consumers no longer will have to file declarations of requirements with dealers.

In making this known today, solid fuel officials reported a "more plentiful" supply of some substitute fuels—all soft coals—although the agency emphasized better types of fuels, such as eastern anthracite and the high volatile soft coals, continue to be short.

MERCEDES McELHINNEY Collapses When Found Guilty

War Wife Held In Delinquency Of Boy and Theft

The estranged wife of a co-guardman, Mrs. Mercedes McElhinney, 21, of Garden st., West End, today was found guilty in municipal court on charges of breaking into a neighbor's apartment and of contributing to the delinquency of a 16-year-old boy.

When Judge Joseph E. Donovan announced his verdict, Mrs. McElhinney, who said she was a night club hostess, collapsed and had to be assisted from the courtroom. The case was continued to Sept. 20 for disposition and she was held in $1500.

An alleged accomplice, Philip Marino, 20, of Holden ct., North End, was found guilty of breaking and entering and was given a Concord reformatory suspended sentence.

Police said Mrs. McElhinney induced a North End boy to climb a fire escape into the apartment of Mrs. Anne Delaney and steal furniture valued at $120.

The youth was brought from Shirley Industrial School to testify.

Mrs. McElhinney testified Mrs. Delaney had given her furniture before and thought her neighbor's generosity gave her permission to add further pieces.

The young wife has a year-old baby which she recently placed in a Philadelphia boarding house.

30 ESCAPE BUS FIRE

Thirty passengers escaped unhurt today when fire broke out in the motor of a Providence-bound bus in Washington st., West Roxbury. Damage was estimated at $300.

Navy Flier Dies in Foxboro Bomber Crash

FOXBORO, Sept. 13—A Navy flier was burned to death today when a Helicat bomber crashed and burst into flames on Briggs' poultry farm, near the West Mansfield town line.

Name of the victim was not immediately available since he was not wearing identification tags.

Police Chief Joseph Dean said he saw the plane passing over Mansfield shortly before the crash and it was losing altitude rapidly. He said another Navy plane was circling above the disabled ship.

When he saw the lower plane plummeting to earth, Dean notified Fire Chief Harold Clark and an ambulance and fire apparatus were sent to the area.

Intense heat kept rescue crews away for more than 15 minutes.

The falling plane sheared off the tops of several trees as it neared the ground. The gasoline tank was smashed when it struck.

After the flames were extinguished, officials of First Naval District and Quonset, R. I., Naval Air Station were notified and crews were sent to remove the wreckage.

Kin Fight Burial Ban in Belmont

The first step in a legal battle to overcome a ban on burial of non-residents in Belmont Cemetery was taken today by Mrs. Lucy F. Lalley of Belmont, sister-in-law of the late Miss Lucy E. Lalley, when she petitioned in Middlesex Superior Court for an injunction to prevent interference with her relative's burial in the family lot.

Mrs. Lalley also sought a decision on the legality of the Belmont Cemetery Commission's order on the burial of non-residents.

Asst. Court Clerk Fred A. Beals, Jr., issued an order of no-turnout tomorrow.

HENZLER RITES SATURDAY

Funeral services for Joseph W. Henzler of Porter ter., Roxbury, proprietor of a Boylston st., Back Bay, tire store, will be held Saturday with a solemn high requiem mass at 9 a. m. in St. Theresa's Church, West Roxbury.

THE BIRTH OF A NOTION..

Boston, world famous woolen center, home of the great leather in a city—sage in educational circles—soon to be world's foremost air conditioner.

Among other things—is famous for its crooked streets, baked beans and Filene's Basement. Venerable Boston goes back to 1830, but it was not until some 300 years later that a new idea that was to revolutionize business, was originated by Boston's foremost retailing institution. What was this Yankee notion that in a span of a brief 97 years was to build up a store that would take its place with world leaders? At first it was just an idea that passed into Mr. Filene's head, but when the idea was set in to give the customer a little more value for a little less money, the world was agog! Filene's Automatic Plan for forcing low bargain prices made its debut in January, 1909, and Boston audiences were some what doubtful to say the least. "It's simply ridiculous," they said— "Reduce prices—Save Folks Money—Live Goods Away—It Won't Work!" BUT IT DID WORK, and within those who doubted were joining the legions who were saving. For at first, while we made mistakes—gradually we erased the headaches by avoiding certain lots, managing more carefully and steadily and consistently maintaining LOW prices. Prices were so LOW and goods sold so fast we gave less and less away and that in a nutshell is the secret of this typical American Bargain Phenomenon—FIRST prices must be low or we lose through automatic markdowns of 1/4, 1/2, 3/4 after 12, 18 or 24 selling days—anything that doesn't sell in 30 selling days is given away to charitable institutions. It's as plain as simple arithmetic—that to those who have tried to copy it and failed, its matchless mathematics has been a source of wonderment down through the years. It's changed the shopping habits of millions—the Yankee Nation that has made good.

135,000 Laid Off In N.E. Up to Sept. 1

Approximately 135,000 workers, or 17 per cent of 813,400 persons employed July 15 in 18 major New England industrial areas were laid off between Aug. 15 and Sept. 1, it was disclosed today at the New England Council's 80th quarterly meeting at the Hotel Statler.

The survey, first to be made in New England since the Japanese surrender, was conducted by the regional War Manpower Commission on request of the council.

At the same time the U. S. employment office reported a total of 54,397 jobs available Sept. 1 in the areas surveyed. Unemployment compensation claims in the same areas were 76,985.

The industrial centers of Bridgeport, Hartford, New Britain, New Haven and Waterbury, Ct., and Portland, Me., were hit hardest by layoffs.

In Portland, where 3300 of 12,400 workers were laid off, an unemployment problem is expected unless new industries are established or an exodus of surplus labor takes place, the report stated, adding that more than 90 per cent of the labor reduction was in shipyards.

In 11 Massachusetts areas, where 448,400 persons were employed, 65,300 were released. Available jobs totaled 20,053 and compensation claims, 33,632.

The Massachusetts survey encompassed Greater Boston, Fall River, Fitchburg, Lawrence, Lowell, Lynn-Salem, New Bedford, Springfield-Holyoke - Northampton, and Worcester.

In six Vermont areas surveyed the employment situation was good, with almost enough job openings to take care of the layoffs.

In Brattleboro and in the Springfield - Windsor, Vt. - Claremont, N. H., areas no significant layoffs occurred, while expansion is expected in textiles, rubber, mining, construction, trade and service industries.

The areas of Barre, Bennington, Burlington and Rutland had only 2900 layoffs. Only 50 unemployment compensation claims were filed there.

The WMC report listed the Providence - Pawtucket - Woonsocket areas in Rhode Island as in excellent condition, with 10,177 job openings to offset its layoff of 9600. Providence employment alone totaled 98,700 in July.

N. E. Colleges See Vet Flood

Hundreds of World War II veterans are returning to New England colleges this fall and the comparative trickle is expected to become a flood a year from now, university officials indicated today.

A survey by the Associated Press showed that at least one college—Boston University—had an estimated Fall enrollment of 14,000 students, about 1200 more than in 1940 and '41. Among them were 500 veterans, including many who saw action in the European and Pacific theaters and one who lost both hands in battle.

Massachusetts Institute of Technology was preparing for a 50 per cent increase in its normal enrollment of 3000 "when all the boys get back." Currently it has about 2000 students compared with 3,047 in 1940 and '41. The figure includes about 100 veterans, half of whom are former students, returned to complete courses.

Boston College reported 650 students, 50 per cent more than last year. Of this number 150 were discharged veterans.

Harvard's estimated enrollment of 3049 was about 1000 more than a year ago, but 5000 under 1940 and 1941. The university still had large numbers of military students taking special courses, however, and room was not yet available for a great number of civilians who desired to enter.

Auto Dealers Elect E. I. Ofgant President

Officers of the Massachusetts Auto Dealers' Ass'n were elected as follows at the Hotel Statler dinner and meeting: President, E. I. Ofgant, Ofgant Chevrolet Co., Cambridge; vice-president, Edward H. Baker, T. C. Baker Co., Brookline; treasurer, Ralph H. Bonnell, Bonnell Motors, Inc., Winchester; clerk, J. Lawrence Bough, Bough Motors, Milton.

The following were chosen directors: Rollin J. Farr, Greenfield; Edward H. Baker, Ralph H. Bonnell, and William H. Bassett, Brookline.

Konoye

negotiations with the United States, and as late as August, 1941, had approved Konoye's plan to see President Roosevelt.

"Up till then the army was undecided whether to accede to the basic American requirement that it withdraw completely from China," Konoye asserted, "but by Oct. 16, 1941, I knew that war was inevitable, but I did not know just how or when it would come." Jingaists constantly threatened him and the police trailed him because of his political activities, he said.

The conversations with the United States were inaugurated by Konoye in April, 1941, he said, "with full confidence war could be averted."

Shortly thereafter he officially suggested to the United States he and President Roosevelt meet. Washington agreed and Honolulu was tentatively mentioned as the scene, with Juneau, Alaska, subsequently mentioned.

"Finally," he said, "Washington made clear such a meeting would be useless unless three problems were settled:

"First, Japan's adherence to the tripartite (Axis) pact; second, removal of Japanese forces from China, and third, financial and economic problems in China."

Konoye said that when the Japanese surrender decision finally was made, the Emperor made it "on his own responsibility."

He contended, however, that intervention by the Emperor in 1941 "would have been much more difficult," because there was a rising clamor for war, especially by younger Army and Navy men who would have been hard to control.

"There was no such clamor when the surrender was negotiated," Konoye observed.

U. S. Asked to Aid Jews' Repatriation

By DAVID SENTNER

Boston Evening American Washington Bureau
WASHINGTON, Sept. 13—President Truman was urged to take immediate steps to permit every Jew in a German concentration camp to proceed to Palestine, if he so desired, by Peter H. Bergson, chairman of the Hebrew Committee of National Liberation.

Anti-Semitism was pictured as rampant throughout Europe in a communication to the Chief executive made public by Bergson in which it was pointed out that the 200,000 Hebrews in Germany and Austria still found themselves virtually in the same position as they were prior to V-E Day.

"The same notorious camps are there, the same bunks, the same German hideous prison clothes, the same barbed wire and the armed sentries watching outside," Bergson wrote. "Only it is an American, British or Russian soldier that stands guard now, and this, if anything, makes it even more painful."

The following immediate steps were recommended by Bergson to end the continued misery and humiliation of the surviving Jews of Europe:

All Hebrews now in German concentration camps who have expressed their determination to go to Palestine should no longer be regarded as German, Hungarian or Romanian displaced persons, but as Palestinians.

The U. S. Government give full assistance to the immediate repatriation of all the above-mentioned Palestinians and an American commission be established to take charge of this program and begin its execution within the American zone.

A commission composed of Hebrews from the concentration camps should be recognized by the occupying authorities and be charged with the handling and representation of all Hebrew af-airs.

"It is reliably estimated that there are no more than some 100,000 such Hebrews in the American and British zones of occupation," said Bergson. "If 10 Liberty ships were assigned for this task, carrying 2500 passengers per ship, they could transfer 50,000 people a month and complete the evacuation within two months."

"Surplus Army trucks, as well as the German railroad system, could be used to transfer these people to Mediterranean ports. The expense would be approximately $30 or $40 per person."

"From a practical point of view it will constitute a saving, for today the maintenance of the concentration camps, their food rations and heating, are mostly the burden of the American Army, which could be freed of this responsibility and expense once the people are moved to Palestine."

Bergson expressed the belief that the American Government should take such steps regardless of the British policy restricting immigration to Palestine.

"Palestine is not a British territory," he wrote the President. "It has been placed under British mandate by international authority."

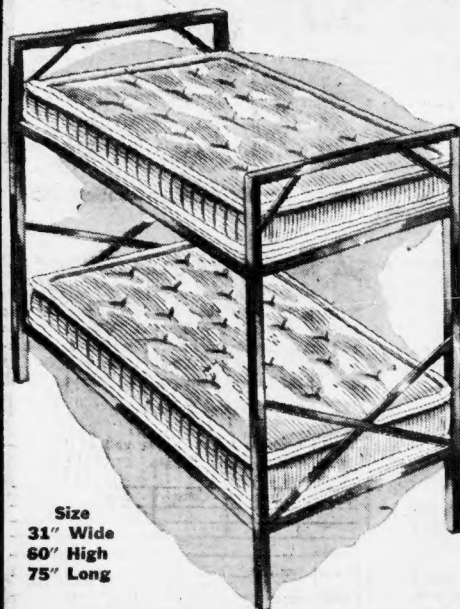

"The present leading position of the United States amongst the United Nations puts direct responsibility upon it for the Palestinian situation."

"We believe the United States should intervene and put a stop to the callous and arbitrary action by which the British government prevents with force of arms these martyred Hebrews from returning to their own national home."

Changing Jobs?

Don't lose your BLUE CROSS Hospital Protection through negligence!

You can keep it in force whatever you do . . . or wherever you go

IF YOU CHANGE JOBS in the current shift from war to peace production, you can still keep your Blue Cross protection against hospital bills. And it costs so little, too!

Once you are a member in Massachusetts, you can continue to protect yourself and your family as long as you live, wherever you live . . . anywhere you work, or even if you do not work at all.

There's no red tape, no strings attached. Here is all you do to keep it alive—to assure yourself freedom from worry over hospital bills—regardless of your residence or employment status:

IF YOU CHANGE YOUR JOB

The employer through which you have been making payments notifies Blue Cross that you have left his employ, sending us your address as it appears on his records.

Blue Cross then sends you a bill to the home address furnished by your employer. You may pay the bill direct to Blue Cross by check, postal or bank money order, or by calling in person at any Blue Cross office. (Do not send payment until you receive the bill and do not send cash through the mail.)

If a Blue Cross Group exists at your new place of employment, find out the name of the person or department which handles Blue Cross and have your membership transferred. Thereafter, you pay through your new employer.

If you cannot join a group at your new place of employment, you may continue your membership by making payments direct to Blue Cross.

IF YOU NO LONGER WORK

If you retire from work for voluntary or involuntary reasons, you may keep your membership in force anywhere in the world by making payments direct to Blue Cross.

You will then retain all the liberal benefits you enjoyed as an Employee Group Member. If you had family protection, you can also keep it—including maternity benefits. If you let your membership lapse, you must then join another group to get these maternity benefits restored.

Do not allow your membership to lapse through negligence. You may not have an opportunity to join again soon.

THESE POINTS ARE IMPORTANT IN CONTINUING YOUR MEMBERSHIP

1. Please do not send payment until you receive a bill from Blue Cross.
2. If you have changed your address since leaving the employer through which Blue Cross payments were made, NOTIFY BLUE CROSS ON THE COUPON BELOW. (Do not use the coupon if your address has NOT changed.)
3. If you do send in the coupon, be sure to include your certificate number. It is needed for accurate identification.

TO BLUE SHIELD MEMBERS: Members of the Blue Shield surgical plan may also transfer their membership or continue as independent members, in the same manner as members of Blue Cross.

The chances are 1 to 10 that you will go to the hospital within a year!

Q—I have a package ready to mail to my brother in the 863rd Tank Destroyer Battalion, 3rd Army, scheduled to return home. Am wondering whether his outfit will be there long enough for him to receive present? N. A. R., Providence.

A—You would be taking a gamble sending package when he is scheduled to return. Troops listed for return are moving swiftly from one base to another and it may not catch up with him. War Dept. is unable to furnish information for public regarding troop movements overseas until a day or two prior to departure.

Q—What information do you have on the 88th Div.? T. R. C., Quincy.
A—Latest report states they are scheduled to sail from Italy next month.
Q—My son was recently home on a 30-day furlough, was attached to 38th Div., 6th Armored. Please tell me where they will be going. Will it be overseas again? M. McQ., Brookline.

A—If son has sufficient points, 45 or more as of May 12, 1945, and served a year under honorable conditions he will not be sent back overseas. If he meets above requirements he will be screened out of that outfit if War Dept. assigns decision to occupation duty overseas.

(Ed. note: Mrs. J. M., So. Boston: outfit you inquire about is scheduled to sail next month. Watch column published elsewhere in this newspaper "The Boys Come Home" which gives arrivals at U. S. ports of debarkation.)

Q—Where might I obtain a list of courses available under the GI Bill? C. R. M., Lynn.
A—Suggest that you contact Veterans' Bureau, 7th Floor, Federal Building, Harold Kiley is director of the educational and rehabilitation branch. His department will be glad to assist you.

(Note to M. J., East Boston: Have no information on outfit requested. It is not going to the Pacific, however, and advise you watch list of arrivals elsewhere in this newspaper.)
My husband is with the 10th Army in the Pacific. When will they return? F. S., Somerville.

A—I wish I could answer your question, but at present I don't think the War Dept. itself would be able to tell you. Information regarding the Pacific area is still held confidential.
Q—May a veteran who has no service-connected disability be entitled to a pension? S. E., Gloucester.

A—Yes, if there was war service and if certain requirements are met. However, a World War I veteran maybe paid a pension for a non-service connected disease or injury only if the disability resulting therefrom is rated permanent and total.

could help to save some lives with Dryer. The whole bus was flaming.

"I could hear screams inside. Soldiers were crawling on their bellies to lawns and yards as far away as 60 to 70 feet. No human being could have saved those poor boys trapped in the flames. The heat was so bad there wasn't a chance of pulling them out.

"The screams stopped almost at once. I telephoned the fort. They sent ambulances and fire apparatus. So did Ayer. When the firemen had put out the flames there wasn't a single thing left of the bus but the framework and some melted glass."

The less severely injured soldiers who squirmed out of the overturned bus did their best to help their comrades. One, John Silva of Garfield ave., New London, Ct., saved the lives of six companions. Silva was not badly hurt. He kicked out the rear window, crawled through and pulled to safety the six men who were badly hurt.

Four first aid teams from Ft. Devens gave emergency treatment on the scene to men who later were placed in ambulances.

The impact of the bus against the telephone pole and tree left a huge hole just in front of the gas tank. The tree was left with not a root in the ground, the pole was splintered, wires a tangled mass in the street.

It was the second major accident in the vicinity of Devens in slightly more than two years. Six soldiers were killed and 14 injured July 21, 1943, when a bus in which they were returning from a dance in Shirley crashed through the Milcheville bridge near the fort.

Radio broadcasts of this morning's crash caused hundreds of New England mothers and fathers to telephone the reception center. There was just one question they wanted answered and those who were able to get through to the jammed switchboard phrased it for all:

"Was my boy in the accident?"

The soldiers had disembarked at New York only yesterday, being sent directly to Camp Kilmer, N. J. There most of them took advantage of the opportunity to telephone their families and give them the good news that took such a tragic turn today.

East Boston Vet Killed After Phoning Home

Cpl. Charles W. Canino, killed in the Ayer crash, was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Canino of Saratoga st., East Boston.

He had been overseas with the Ninth Air Force as a bombsight technician since May, 1943, serving in England, France, Belgium and Germany.

He had telephoned his home last night and talked with his mother, happily informing her he had at last landed in this country and was on his way from Camp Kilmer to Devens.

"It's so wonderful to know I'll soon be home! I can't say much else now I'm too excited," he told his married sister Mrs. Theresa Madden.

Two sisters, Mrs. Madden and Miss Lillian Canino, survive with the parents.

President to Have New Cruising Yacht

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13 (AP)—Some time in October President Truman is to have a new yacht—the 245-foot offshore cruising yacht Williamsburg, converted to a gunboat in 1941 for war service. The U. S. S. Potomac, presidential pleasure ship, will be reconverted for Coast Guard patrol work.

NBC said the men now receive an average salary of $3600 a year, with average monthly salaries ranging from $230 to $482.75.

Station WEAF, NBC's key station, was forced to cancel plans to broadcast the City Hall reception for Gen. Wainwright.

In all, 136 NBC stations and ABC stations were affected.

Hub Radio Stations Affected Little

Local NBC and American stations reported no interruption in their regular morning schedules, except in the NBC roundup of world news at 8 o'clock. Only two out of four of the news commentators could be heard.

BEST RISKS

SERVICEMEN obtaining loans under the G. I. Bill of Rights have proved to be the world's best credit risks.

That is the assurance of the Veterans' Administration in Washington.

Only tree of the 19,516 loans so far guaranteed to the former soldiers and sailors under the Servicemen's Readjustment Act, more commonly known as the G. I. Bill, have failed to measure up to expectations.

Although loan guarantees now total $30,070,358, the veterans' agency has actually been required to pay out only $4,500 in losses to cover the defaults.

The failures to meet payments covered business loans, and with 1288 such loans exacted the loss of only three represents an extremely small ratio.

Not a single claim of loss has been received on any of the 17,837 home loans guaranteed nor on any of the 391 farm loans.

This should interest our New England banking institutions and cause them to be more eager for the patronage of veterans.

It should also interest the Massachusetts Legislature which failed during its last session to help soldiers and sailors obtain sites for their homes and small farms.

Thousands of acres of land have been seized by various cities and towns for non-payment taxes.

This land should be turned over to the veterans without cost when the former owners make an attempt to recover it.

Real estate speculators should not be allowed to gamble up the land for sale later on to the servicemen at inflated prices.

NO WPA ART

"LET US build war memorials that live and breathe—memorials which will quicken the pulses of the people!

"Memorials that will dramatically keep alive the memories of the sacrifices of the men who fought, and the men who were maimed, and the men who died, in this war for our nation!

"God forbid that the atrocities of WPA art should be repeated—stylized, symbolic, dehumanized people representing fishing and fire insurance, Pan-Americanism and penicillin, art which looks as if a drunken woodsman had lashed it out of an old oak with a dull axe!"

This is the good advice of Parks Commissioner Robert Moses to the people of New York City. It is equally good for the people of Boston, Massachusetts and New England.

Let us have playgrounds for children, recreational centers for youth, libraries and the many other improvements that will contribute increasing happiness to our own and later generations.

Instead of monuments conceived by second and third rate artists, architects and amateur sculptors, let us have elms and maples along our streets and highways.

Trees will afford shelter and security, in perpetuity. That is what the brave young men who died to make this a better world would want.

INEXCUSABLE

FOUR months ago Mayor Kerrigan asked the Boston City Council to approve a $300,000 loan order for the immediate renovation of the Houghton-Dutton Building.

The order still is being debated and not passed.

Council members have been advised that the Federal Government wants to rent the building for $750,000 for a Veterans' Insurance Center.

Rep. David M. Cleary of Charlestown has repeatedly warned that the center and the two thousand new jobs it will give servicemen might be moved to Worcester or some other alert city if Boston persists in its dilatory tactics.

But the Council has not been sufficiently impressed to vote favorably.

This is a deplorable example of shortsightedness.

Persons responsible for the obstruction will realize it if the center does go to Worcester.

"AND SO, my Fellow Countrymen, today I report to you that your sons and daughters have served you well and faithfully with the calm, deliberate, determined fighting spirit of the American soldier and sailor. Based upon a tradition of historical trait, as against fanaticism of an enemy supported only by mythological fiction, their spiritual strength and power have brought us through to victory. They are home-ward bound—take care of them."—Gen. Douglas MacArthur in speech to people of the United States, following Japanese surrender aboard U. S. S. Missouri, September 2, 1945.

Oh, many and many a girl for me is pining,
Leaving her locks of gold to the cold wind free
For me, the foremost of our gay young fellows;
But I'd leave a hundred blondes, my love, for thee.
Put your head, Darling, Darling, Darling,
Your darling brunette head my heart above;
Oh, Mouth of Honey, with the Thyme of fragrance,
Who, with a heart in his breast, could deny you love?
—FERGUSON.

THE PRESENT and future children of those women who are or have been WACS, WAVES, SPARS, Women Marines, Army and Navy nurses are going to have pin-up pictures that will be a pride and joy for years to come. Their mothers in uniform! Wonderful! A good many will be able to have pictures of both their fathers and mothers in uniform. Which will be even more wonderful. If it will, it will be tops in pin-up pictures of the future.

HORSES & WOMEN: Toledo subscriber says she is the mother of three children but has a better figure now than before she was married. Her husband calls her "Mrs. America" and says she is as lovely as Greer Garson. She adds: "The excuse given by some women that child-bearing has impaired their figures is proof of their sluggishness. Intelligent exercise will take care of that situation. Call this to the attention of that Horses & Women club which is interested in improving women."

HUSBANDS: Have heard some husbands are extremely bitter about the sample dinners suggested by female domestic science experts. For example, a New Haven, Ct. husband states his wife, following the printed suggestion of a domestic science expert, served him the following dinner: Split pea soup, frankfurters, toasted crackers, peach shortcake and coffee."

SMOKERS: An expert on cigarette smoking etiquette says the most annoying of female smokers are "the drooper," or woman who never removes the cigarette from her mouth and lets it droop between puffs. Another great source of irritation to cigarette smokers, according to this expert, is the hostess who does not furnish enough ash trays.

BRIEFLY: Am asked when the song "Chinatown, My Chinatown" was popular. Believe it was a hit around 1906 . . . Miss California of 1945, representing the Golden State in the Miss America bathing beauty contest, is from Texas. On the other hand, Joyce Courage, Miss Texas of 1944, was from Louisiana. Only way I can figure it out is that all the beautiful Texas girls are going to California to break into the movies, so the Lone Star State has to draft Louisiana girls to represent it in pulchritude events.

QUERIES FROM CLIENTS: Q—Have you another feminine reader whose first name is Gonzaga? And who am I named after? A—

Have no other reader named Gonzaga. I assume you are named in honor of the Sixteenth Century Italian clergyman, Luigi Gonzaga, also known as St. Aloysius. Gonzaga visited the sick during a plague in Rome, contracted the disease himself and died shortly after. Bing Crosby's alma mater, Gonzaga University, is named in his honor. Q—Have just become the father of the sweetest blue-eyed baby in the 13 original States. What was that poem expressing fond hopes for the future of a newly born daughter. Was it something like a toast? A—Guess you mean Mary Elizabeth Blake's touching and tender lines; which are as follows:

Love be true to her,
Life be dear to her;
Heaven stay close to her;
Joy draw near to her.

SIDELIGHTS: So a government official says the wages are going to be increased and the prices of food and goods kept down. That's everybody's idea of heaven; high wages and low prices.

FAIR ENOUGH

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK, Sept. 13—The reaction of some Americans to disclosures of certain of the late President Roosevelt's activities has been that it is unseemly to bring out such information regarding a great man so recently dead.

This thought has been expressed by some who speak not in the tones of the Political Action group, but appear to be fair-minded if oversensitive citizens.

It is argued in this connection that history should be allowed to form the verdict on Mr. Roosevelt's character.

To this I agree to the extent that history will give the final decision.

However, two other facts should be remembered.

First, Mr. Roosevelt, himself, acknowledged his own greatness during his life by erecting historical monuments to himself, being our only President who ever did this, although Hitler and Mussolini, of course, did.

Second, the time to prepare a case is when the evidence is still at hand and witnesses are still alive and their memories good.

Historians complain that they are hampered in their work by the carelessness of living generations. But they have been hampered by timidity, also, and by an exaggerated sense of the nice thing, which forbids the recording, while the facts and the witnesses are still alive and before documents can be destroyed, of information bearing on historic causes, events and personalities.

THERE IS NO dearth of propaganda in support of Mr. Roosevelt's greatness, his generosity, his high principle and his fierce devotion to the cause of that mythical and abject creature conjured up by the writers and orators of his party and called by them the common man.

This common man is represented as the typical American citizen—the toiler, the small merchant, the farmer.

And the image is not a complimentary representation of the Americans who came off the floor with blood on their guns to beat the mighty and fanatical Japanese one-handed, while with the other hand they finished off Adolf Hitler, the greatest military power in all history, not only landing on his fortified beaches but smashing his vaulted Western Wall.

Is it fair to history and to these Americans to permit them to be portrayed as helpless, inept, bewildered masses, so inefficient that they had to be fathered and mothered by a patronizing cult of self-appointed uncommon men and women, so emotional that they could not endure the truth about one whose sycophants would make him a master over them?

MR. ROOSEVELT appealed for their votes and their confidence by certain professions of principle. He was, for example, an enemy of the "public official who allows a member of his family to obtain fees or benefits through his political influence."

The people took him at his own word in this particular. If then, it can be shown that he failed to practice his own preachings by permitting members of his family to have incomes far beyond their probably normal powers, should the generation now living be unfair to history and, indeed, delude itself in its own judgments, by failing to inquire into the case?

If it can be shown that he threw a burden on the common man what is the duty of the current historian as to that?

And if evidence of that is concealed or allowed to vanish for lack of timely initiative, how can history, years afterward, reach a correct verdict?

If, for all his denunciations of tax-dodgers and of "clever little schemes having the color of legality" Mr. Roosevelt left his own estate so organized that his heirs could escape a certain inheritance tax, would examination of the facts here be sacrilege or conscientious reporting?

Is it a violation of decency or a service to truth and history to point out that the most lavish giver of other people's money to the needy, even in foreign lands, himself, when he died, left $100 apiece to his personal employees, and he a millionaire and provided for less than $20 a week for a loyal confidante and helper of many years' service?

Agreed that history should be allowed to give the verdict, but it is impossible to produce a valid verdict from a one-sided case.

EVERY OTHER DAY MILK DELIVERY

IT'S MODERN... IT'S STREAMLINED... IT'S ECONOMICAL...

That's the typical reaction of our thousands of customers to our Every-Other-Day Milk Delivery system... the system which has definitely brought about a more efficient and greatly improved service. Too, it has acted as a vital and important influence in keeping Milk prices down to a normal level (at the same time benefiting labor's income). As you may know, the slight increase in Milk prices since Pearl Harbor is far below the very substantial increase in the prices of all other essential foods during the wartime period. It is conceivable that in prewar times this over-all reduction in expenses might even have made lower Milk prices possible. Our customers are on record as favoring the mutual economies resulting from Every-Other-Day Delivery. Your continued cooperation in maintaining this system will serve as a powerful factor in holding Milk prices to minimum levels.

HEART IS ONE OF THE VARIETY of meats which is "worthy of a place on our dinner menus. It is very tasty as well as high in nutritive value and low in cost and point value.

Proper cooking of heart is what determines its appetizing quality. Since it is a less tender meat, moist heat cooking methods (braising or simmering) are the rule. And above all, be sure to allow plenty of time for it to cook until it is really tender.

Veal, lamb, and pork hearts are smaller in size and more tender than beef heart. They need about 2 to 2½ hours to cook, while an average-sized beef heart (which weighs 3½ pounds or more) requires at least 4 hours. This size beef heart serves 8 to 10 people. Before cooking, the heart should be washed thoroughly in water, and any hard parts removed.

In most recipes, the different kinds of heart may be used interchangeably. Beef heart, being larger in size, is particularly good stuffed and braised. Any moist bread stuffing is used. After the heart is stuffed and browned, the rest of the cooking may be done in the oven (if you wish to plan an oven meal like the menu given above) or on top of the range. Regardless, the method is still braising, which means, of course, a small amount of liquid and a cover on the pan. The complete directions are as follows:

BAKED STUFFED HEART

1 beef heart
Flour, salt, pepper
Bread stuffing
2 tsp. shortening or drippings
Water

Fill with bread stuffing and sew or skewer to hold in stuffing. Roll in seasoned flour, brown all over in fat. Add small amount (about ¼ cup) of water. Cover and cook slowly at 300 deg. F. until tender, adding more water as needed. About 4 hours will be required. Thicken liquid for gravy.

BREAD STUFFING

½ to 6 cups soft bread crumbs
¼ cup chopped onion
1 tsp. chopped parsley
2 tsp. salt
¼ tsp. pepper
1 tsp. poultry seasoning
¼ to 6 tsp. drippings or other fat

Combine all ingredients. Add water or soup stock. Mix lightly.

than the family, you'll probably have enough heart left over for another meal. In that case you'll win approval with heart sandwiches, for sure. A platter of cold sliced heart (with the stuffing included, of course) is another good choice. Here is a menu to suit the occasion:

This Cream Real Throat Beautifier

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE, Beauty and Fashions Editor

THERE'S NO DOUBT, and you can verify this through any serviceman returned from overseas, that American women are the most beautiful and the youngest-looking you can find anywhere in the world.

The reason for this is not any peculiarity of climate, and certainly not of our hereditary traits, for our climate is of every variety and our backgrounds just as varied. It is because American women take the trouble to be glamorous that they are so.

We spend a fortune on cosmetics . . . and it is a wonderful investment, as our men will agree. We take pains with our faces and our hair. We use cleansing creams and night creams, we experiment until we find the right make-up base, lipstick and powder for our skins, and we keep our hair clean, permanently waved and attractively coiffed.

But for some strange reason, a good many girls and women never seem to look at their own necks. There used to be an advertisement for men's hats which said: "Look At Your Hat. Everyone Else Does!" This might well be paraphrased to read neck, or throat, for the feminine reader.

JUST FOR THROAT AREA

So if you have let your throat get coarse-skinned and crumpled through skipping on it with your cleansing cream, or scrubbing it rudely with soap and washrag, or exposing it to the harsh elements, take heed:

You are in dire need of a special throat cream made by a famous cosmetician, designed especially to help combat these age-lending dry lines and creases.

It's easy to work, however. All you have to do is dip your fingers into this creamy whipped substance and work it with a firm, upward motion from the chest up to the chin line. Don't go beyond the chin, for this cream was created just for the throat area. For the best results, give 15 minutes a day to the ritual and you won't regret it.

Call Liberty 4000, weekdays except Saturdays before five, or write me, care of the Boston Evening American, Boston 6, enclosing a stamped and self-addressed envelope, for further details about this throat beautifier.

If It's Pleasant, Say It!

Too many people, I've noticed, are held back from saying pleasant words of appreciation to others by a fear that their words may be considered flattery. That's foolish fear and will get you nowhere. Be generous with your kind words of appreciation of, to and about people, and you'll succeed in your human relationships. And today these kind words are particularly needed, particularly welcomed. Fall Coat Styles Varied

By BETTINA BEDWELL

WHEN you go out to get your new coat, you'll find there is a lot of variety in coat fashions. This is good news, because there is a lot of variety in women, too.

The most exciting news in coats is probably the coat with a small waistline, between wide soft shoulder lines and hippy skirt lines. This isn't everybody's coat, but for most women it is O. K. Don't get it fitted too tight, for this is dangerous.

The simple topcoat that isn't fitted below the shoulders is around, but not new style. Much newer is the overcoat that has some moulding around the waistline, but no tight fitting. Coat sleeves that are big items are very smart and fine, if you don't happen to be short and heavy, in which case you'd better skip them for your own sake.

Symphony Opens Season on Oct. 5

A musically eventful October in Symphony Hall is promised by Serge Koussevitzky, conductor of the Boston Symphony Orchestra. Dr. Koussevitzky will open on Oct. 5 his 22d successive season as conductor of the Boston Symphony Orchestra.

His opening program will end with Beethoven's "Eroica" Symphony, which the conductor has chosen for its timeliness as retrospective of war and final victory and as in keeping with thoughts of the peace to come. The music of Beethoven will also open this program (the Overture to "Leonore" No. 3).

Aaron Copland's Suite from his Ballet "Appalachian Spring" will have its first performance here, and "Prokofiev's" Suite from "Romeo and Juliet" will be revived. Music to be heard for the first time in Boston in the remaining Friday and Saturday programs of the month will be Two Interludes from Menotti's Opera "The Island of the Mad" performed by the Metropolitan Opera Company, the Third Symphony of Bohuslav Martinu, which was written for this orchestra and is to have its first performance, and the Second Symphony by the Soviet composer Kabalevsky.

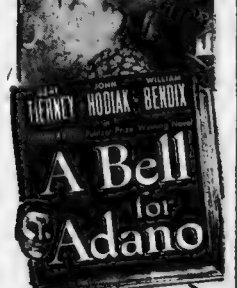

The composer Puccini will be first heard at these concerts when his "Commedia dell'Arte" will have its first performance. Aurelio Puccini was born in Spezia, Italy, in 1900 and came to America about 21 years ago.

A newcomer among the soloists to these concerts will be the Czech pianist, Rudolf Firkušny. Pianists remembered from the past are Vladimir Horowitz and Alexander Brailowsky. The violinists will include Albert Spalding, Yehudi Menuhin and Efrem Zimbalist. There will be two cellists, Gregor Piatigorsky and Raya Garbousova.

Igor Stravinsky will conduct a program, and other guest conductors will be Fritz Reiner, Sir Adrian Boult and Leonard Bernstein.

Conn Puts on Weight as He Points for Louis Bout

By JACK CONWAY

BILLY CONN, back in the United States after Army service overseas, weighs 191 pounds against his former fighting notch of 175 pounds. Conn is expected to be discharged from the Army soon. Mike Jacobs has confirmed this writer's exclusive story in the Sunday Advertiser that he plans to have Conn and Joe Louis battle for the world's heavyweight championship at one of the New York ball parks next June.

Conn says that after he gets into condition he will probably weigh 184 pounds which will be nine pounds more than he scaled the night the "Brown Bomber" knocked him out in 13 rounds. Billy insists that the extra weight will be the margin of victory in his favor.

Billy Conn

Gene Tunney came out of World War I with the weight needed to go on and battle light heavyweights. Later Gene packed on additional weight so that he was physically a match for Jack Dempsey.

Louis weighs 218 pounds and his problem will be to get down to about 208 pounds for his tussle with Conn. The champion is at his best when weighing around 205 pounds, but it is unlikely that he will ever reach that notch again. Louis has packed on some inside fat which he will find impossible to remove.

Conn Requires Weight

IF CONN does not carry any excess fat when he gets down to 184 pounds, he will be a much improved fighter. He will have the power to hold Louis in the clinches while there will be greater force behind his punches. Jack Dempsey only weighed 183 pounds when he knocked out gigantic Jess Willard, while Jack Sharkey's weight was 188 when he defeated Harry Wills.

Joe Malczewicz, one of the greatest wrestlers that ever lived, could defeat any man in the world with the exception of Strangler Lewis when he weighed only 188 pounds. Malczewicz once told me that weight over 190 pounds frequently slowed down an athlete.

Strangler Lewis, who weighed 240 pounds, was one of the few big men I have seen in sports who still possessed speed. Lewis was one of the great athletes of his period.

Conn was at his best as a light heavyweight. He then found it difficult to pack on the weight needed to battle heavyweights.

Young Stribling, Tommy Loughran and Jack Delaney were other light heavyweights who were handicapped by lack of poundage when they invaded the heavyweight division.

Loughran's Fatal Error

TOMMY LOUGHRAN invaded the heavyweight ranks to battle Jack Sharkey after he had successfully defended his world's light heavyweight title against Jimmy Braddock. Loughran scaled 175 pounds for his winning tussle with Braddock.

I watched Loughran train for Sharkey, and I noted the fact he had put on extra weight. It was soft flesh, and it tended to deprive Tommy of some of his speed.

"We have Loughran weighing 184 pounds," Manager Joe Smith said to me. "The extra weight will enable Tommy to hit better."

"It will help Sharkey to knock him out," I replied. "For each extra pound Loughran carries he will go one less round. Loughran is a speed fighter, and if you pack weight on him he will slow down and be easier for Sharkey to hit."

Smith thought otherwise until the third round of the bout when Sharkey crashed a right hand punch to Loughran's jaw. The force of the blow turned Loughran half way around and he looked towards the crowd.

"Get me a chair. I want some place to sit down at," the confused Loughran said to Referee Lou Magnolia who stopped the tussle.

I met Loughran the following day at Madison Square Garden. "I felt like a boy climbing over the fence of a ball park," said Tommy. "Just when I was getting ready to watch things, I felt as if I had been hit on the head by a baseball bat."

Conn may pack on hard, solid flesh as Tunney did. If he does, Joe Louis will find he has a real fight on his hands. Conn always possessed spirit and confidence and fine boxing ability. Extra weight would give him needed power.

Prim's Perseverance May Win Pennant for Chicago

CHICAGO, Sept. 12 (AP)—The clever left arm of graying Raymond L. (Pappy) Prim is writing one of baseball's greatest perseverance stories—a saga that fits prominently into the pattern of the Chicago Cubs' pennant bid.

In fact, the Bruins' pace-setting rush is exactly paralleled by the renaissance of 38-year-old Prim, a minor league pitching wow who knocked feebly and fruitlessly at Big Time's door for more than a decade.

Until July 6, just two days before the Cubs moved into the National League lead, Prim appeared destined to fritter away his fourth chance to make the major league grade. He had a faint 2-4 record and made the Cubs wonder how he ever won 22 games for Los Angeles in 1943.

But then the quiet, unassuming guy in his 16th year of professional competition started southpawing the opposition dizzy. Since July 6, in winning 10 games and losing only three, Prim fashioned an amazing earned run average of only 1.13.

Even with his unimpressive start, Prim has a 2.70 earned run average for his 12-7 record.

It's been a long, winding road that carried Prim to the top. After starring in baseball and football at Auburn, Ray joined Greensboro in the class B Piedmont League in 1930. The next three years saw him at Durham, Baltimore, York, Pa., Youngstown, O., and Albany before the Washington Senators picked him up at the close of 1933.

Washington shunted him back to Albany in 1934 and the following year he went to the Philadelphia Phils where, as a reliever, he had a 3-4 record. In 1936 he started at Minneapolis, then went to Los Angeles where he anchored with great success.

From 1937 through 1942, Prim won 114 games for the Angels, a 19-game average for the six seasons. The Cubs called him up in 1943, but a sore back held him to a 4-3 record. Back with Los Angeles in 1944, Ray had his best season, 22-10, with a brilliant earned run average of 1.70.

Bernie Kilroy Named Boston English Coach

By MIKE GILLOOLY

Bernie Kilroy, former All-Eastern center at Boston College, will shift his football coaching tasks from East Boston High School to Boston English, according to an announcement today from Joe McKenney, director of physical education in the Boston school ranks.

Kilroy's step into the intown ranks will leave the Noddle Islander post open for Billy McCarthy, home town athlete. Another shift in the Hub schools will send Billy Bond, ex-B. C., from Brandeis Vocational to Jamaica Plain.

These shifts will fill the vacancies caused by Bill Ohrenberger and Jimmy Duffy shifting into McKenney's front office last spring. The Brandeis coaching berth will be filled shortly.

Kilroy graduated from B. C. in 1928 and moved to St. Mary's of Brookline where he turned out two teams... then he hopped to Natick before jumping to the Donald McKay School in East Boston... he succeeded Fred O'Brien as football coach... he's married to the daughter of Tom Connolly, head of the American League umpires.

McCarthy was born and raised in East Boston... graduated from the High School of Commerce in the same class with Kilroy... played baseball, basketball and football at B. U.... coached E.P.'s first basketball team... then moved into baseball, track and hockey... created tremendous enthusiasm at the school.

Bond graduated from B. C. in 1920... he was captain of the baseball team... moved to Fairhaven High as coach... then taught at Roxbury Memorial... has been at Brandeis for three years.

Tony Tassinari has a new assistant coach at Amesbury... Marty Donovan, former Catholic University star and former sergeant in the U. S. Army, has taken over the line assignment... incidentally, Coach Tassinari's brother, Joe, a definite All-Scholastic guard last year on that great Salem High eleven, is now stationed at Camp Croft, North Carolina.

The Malden High Boosters Club will have a sports night as a pregame rally to the Nashua game at the Jenkins Auditorium tonight... Major John J. Dugan, S.J., U. S. Army chaplain, will be the guest speaker... Dave Ferriss of the Red Sox and Pug Manders of the Boston Yanks will also be on hand... membership in the club has jumped to 400.

That newly arranged game between Wakefield and Peabody, set for Saturday night at Manning Bowl, should be a nifty tilt... the Tanners have lost practically all of their Class A champions... and Coach Hal Rood will be after a sweet victory with his smaller Wakefield outfit... incidentally, the star of the Wakefield team will be Bill Healy, son of Peabody's assistant coach... that'll create quite a verbal tussle in the Healy home.

Jack Dempsey Given Release

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13 (INS)—The Coast Guard announced today that Comdr. W. H. "Jack" Dempsey is being released temporarily from active duty.

No details were given beyond the fact that the former heavyweight champion would be assigned to active status again on Oct. 20 to tour the country in the interests of the Victory bond drive.

Later Coast Guard headquarters declined further comment except to say that Dempsey was released from his duties for "personal business reasons."

BC Steps Into Hard Scrimmage

Scrimmages got under way at Boston College yesterday afternoon when Moody Sarno put his squad through the first such drill of the season at Alumni Field. Steve Helstowski made a fine showing for himself while running from the fullback position. Ed Cronin and Jim McMorrow were the signal callers for the afternoon and both did a fine job, boding a stiff fight for the starting berth when the first game is played on Sept. 29.

Arlington Is Built Around Faulkner

By MIKE GILLOOLY

Everything's moving along smoothly at Arlington High School toward the opening of the football season but, for the life of him, Coach Henry "The Hammer" Toczykowski just can't figure out why there's so much whispering that his outfit will be the team to beat in the chase for the state championship.

Arlington will move to Gillis Stadium for the first Class A clash of the campaign against Medford Saturday afternoon and this tilt, according to reports, may produce a new tiltist.

Coach Toczykowski admits that he has five veterans on his squad, but to make up for this, he'll have some new comers to the outfit who have seen little or no service on the scholastic gridiron. Then, too, he'll have one of the lightest quarterbacks in Class A ranks, handling the tricky T assignments, for a classy, experienced backfield.

Arlington has blown hot and cold in scrimmages with other teams. But these practice sessions have brought out one very important point—that Arlington will have a top notch passer in co-capt. George Faulkner, rated by his coach as the best in the school-boy ranks. The only drawback to the sharpshooting of Faulkner—the Dave Ferriss of the school gridiron—is the fact that he'll have a pair of "green" ends as eligibles for his heaves.

ENDS SHOULD BE GOOD

And it's right on the wings that Arlington may be great or poor. But taking into consideration that Assistant Coach Jim Cavaliere, former Holy Cross star, will be grooming Bill Coveney and Charlie Kent, a converted tackle, it's simple to assume that they'll be ready. George Brillante and Keith Fulton will be held in reserve.

Co-capt. Faulkner, 170 pounds, will have Bob Lavory, 189 pounds, and Joe Porzio, 160, as his running mates in the backfield. All played last year. They should be able to help Dick Reta, 130-pound player-caller, until he gets his sea-legs in high school competition.

Vin Campa, Bill "Moose" Muelo, Gil Delores and Bob Alt, also an end, will act as replacements in the backfield. Then, Coach Toz will have a nifty all-sophomore backfield in Bob Carmody, qb, Charlie Ling, lb, Dick Nigro, rfb, and Howard Cleary, fb. This quartet was developed as a combination by the late Fred Ostergren while they were freshmen.

"Freddie worked these kids into a nifty backfield that will be paying off shortly in touchdowns," said Toz. "We only wish he was here to bring along some more boys for us."

The center of the line will have weight and speed but with the exception of co-captain Ed Mahoney, 180-pound guard, and center Don Sennott, 170, little experience. However, Al Dunk, 180, and Bob Vanni, 170, have progressed rapidly to take over starting assignments with Bill Solia, 165, in line for the other first string guard. Line spares who will see action against Medford include Jim Fife, g; Bob Cashman, g; Troy Setter, t; and Al Desimone, t.

Arlington's schedule after Medford, host, at Newton, Sept. 22; open, Sept. 29; at Lynn Classical, Oct. 6; Waltham, Oct. 13; Leominster, Oct. 20; at Malden, Oct. 27; at Weymouth, Nov. 3; Chelsea, Nov. 10; Cambridge Latin, Nov. 17; Melrose, Thanksgiving Day.

Army Bus in Which Four Died—The flame seared bus in which four overseas veterans lost their lives and 35 others were injured, lies upside down in West Main st., Ayer, after it went out of control, crashed into a pole and uprooted a tree. Witnesses said fire broke out as the men were struggling to make their escape from the bus. All were overseas veterans being shifted from Camp Joyce Kilmer, N. J., to Ft. Devens for processing before returning to their families.
